

Couples Seminar

"Stop working on your marriage; The Bible's unorthodox instructions to couples"

On February 13, 2016, you are invited to a half day seminar on marriage. This may sound about as appealing as a half day at the Department of Motor Vehicles - but we can almost guarantee it will be a better experience. And we promise no lines. But seriously, the buzz surrounding this particular seminar has been unusually positive and we wouldn't recommend it if we didn't think it worth your time. It was originally designed for couples hitting the 60,000 mile mark or beyond, but whether your vehicle is on its third set of Michelins or its brand spanking new, there will be something for everyone. This is not an extended counseling session or a marriage encounter. It's a rare opportunity for individual inspection and re-calibration. You will not be asked to interact with your spouse or with the group. The sole standard of measurement will be the Bible. We hope you will join us.

Here is what others have said...

Bill and Alison from Atlanta, GA said, "David Rheinstein's seminar was a refreshing, enlightening, and highly challenging biblical look at marriage. He exposed a couple of difficult areas that we now realize need to be changed in order to be obedient to the Lord. After 25 years of marriage, we can definitely say that this was the most insightful and biblically-based marriage seminar we have ever attended".

Kevin and Suzanne from Manhattan Beach, CA said, "I have been to a number of marriage seminars (Love and Respect, Family Life), but never have I been so moved (and so convicted to change) by a marriage talk as the one I heard less than a month ago by David Rheinstein".

David's Mother from Oxnard, CA said, "David Rheinstein is my favorite speaker. I could listen to him read the phone book and be inspired".

Our leader is David Rheinstein. David was born and raised in Los Angeles, CA. He holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Princeton University and a Master of Theology degree from Dallas Theological Seminary. David has been a tennis pro, performed professionally as a magician, hosted a weekly radio program, and worked for a Wall Street investment firm. Notwithstanding this checkered employment history, David has spent the past twenty five years traveling the U.S. and overseas on behalf of That Day, Inc., (2Timothy 1:12), meeting with business and professional men as they consider the bigger issues of life and faith. David's ministry often extends into the entire family of those with whom he meets. He has never been the subject of a congressional investigation...that we know of.
